German, Rumanian Losses in Sieges Placed at 260,000

Russians Declare Other Enormous Casualties Are Not Included

(By The Associated Press)
The first major contingent of U. S. army troops was disclosed today to have arrived in Iceland, bolstering the "Gibraltar of the North's" formidable garrison of American marines and air corps units.

Arriving in giant transports, the soldiers were said in delayed dispatches to have disembarked Sept. 17.

On the Soviet war front, Moscow reported that Russian Red armies were holding fast, inflicting bloody losses on the Nazi invaders, and the Soviet radio said the first snow of the season was falling on the southwest (Ukraine) front.

German siege armies attacking Leningrad have lost 100,000 men on the south and southwest approaches of the old czarist capital, while Rumanian losses in the siege of Odessa, Black sea port, have reached a total of 160,000 troops, the Russians reported to-

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Telegraph Special Service)
British Premier Churchill has the habit of hunching up his expansive shoulders, sticking out his jaw and stating harsh facts bluntly, and in his report on the war situation to his people yesterday he emphasized that Hitler still holds the initiative in every arm excepting the air.

Indeed, added the prime minister, should the Nazi chief decide to stand on the defensive in the Russian theater he would have sufficient striking power to launch great attacks simultaneously against England, Africa, Egypt and Spain. Such a development is possible, though nobody knows what the fuhrer may do.

As a matter of fact, it's quite likely that Hitler hasn't yet decided his own destiny, and in my mind his campaign plans are being sketched right now in the mud of the rolling fields in the Ukraine. Events of the immediate future in that bloody cock-pit probably will govern his decision.

Thus far he has been driving with all his strength in this southern sector with the apparent purpose of trying to complete his invasion of the Ukraine, and then turn southward into the Caucasus toward Iran (Persia) before the

Rowdiest Sea Dog in His Majesty's Service Problem for British Navy

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—(AP)—A veteran of Dunkirk—the rowdiest sea dog in His Majesty's service—has gone A. W. O. L. again and that's a problem for the British navy.

Sneaking off the cruiser Manchester which is undergoing repairs at the Philadelphia navy yard, Stin Ker Shrapnel started on a tear through the marine barracks but a couple of M. P.'s quickly had him back on ship to face disciplinary action.

Captain Harold Drew had to drop his work to look after the most troublesome member of his crew of 700. Out came Shrapnel's service folder, a record of devotion under fire along with shore misdeeds culminating in court-martial.

The captain softened as he came to the name of Shrapnel's first ship, the Jaguar. Stin Ker was a-

FDR May Try Only Piece-Meal Change Of Neutrality Act

Seeks To Minimize Threat of Debate in Congress

Washington, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Indications increased today that President Roosevelt may seek to minimize threatened congressional controversy over his foreign policy program by requesting only piece-meal revision of the neutrality act at this time.

Reliable sources said the president probably would ask only authority to arm American merchant ships and to send them to Canadian ports from which the law now bans them.

Several congressional leaders have advocated outright repeal of the act or—as suggested by Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the senate foreign relations committee—

11-Year-Old Boy Causes Anxiety

"Whitey" Haines, 11, caused his parents and neighbors considerable anxiety last night when he disappeared quite mysteriously from the home of his parents southeast of Ashton on the Reynolds church road. Sheriff Gilbert Finch was called to the Haines home about 11:30 after members of the family and neighbors had completed a search of the neighborhood and in Ashton for the boy.

Young Haines was reported to have been sent on an errand to a neighbor's home about 6:45 last evening and to have failed to return. The family searched the

Grim Narrative of Heroism and Horror Told by 12 Soldiers

Survivors of Crew of Storm-Wrecked Motor- ship at San Juan

San Juan, Puerto Rico, Oct. 1.—(AP)—A captain who went down with his ship, a radio operator who died after reassuring his mates that help was en route, a seaman who bled to death from the attack of a shark—these were among the incidents related today by the 12 survivors of the motor-ship Ethel Skakel, formerly the Libby Maine, which sank in 10 minutes during a Caribbean storm. Twenty men died when the Ethel Skakel foundered or in the subsequent two-day battle for survival against the wind-whipped sea. The survivors, 10 of them in sick bay, arrived here late last night after navy destroyers aided by seaplanes had picked them off bits of wreckage.

The 1,811-ton wooden ship ran into heavy weather which damaged her steering gear last Thursday morning, the survivors said. From that moment onward, this is their narrative of culminating heroism and horror:

While attempting to switch from the electric to hand steering gear, First Mate Harry Christiansen and Chief Engineer H. Little were injured and were taken to their bunks. They never were seen again, for almost immediately the Ethel Skakel settled into the sea as if she had no bottom.

Third Mate Francis Holmes, on watch, had no time to lower even a single lifeboat. Quickly he slashed the lines of one boat, but it banged against the bridge housing and fell bottomside up in the raging sea.

Captain Carried Away
Captain Hans Bied stood at the bridge rail. That was the last of his crew saw of him, for the whole bridge and deck housing were carried away by the storm.

Those men on deck were hurled into the sea, grasping at any bit of wreckage which offered support.

Radio Operator H. Carson, who sent out an SOS in the 10 minutes his radio shack remained in existence, clung to a floating bit of debris and shouted to his half-drowned companions:

"Don't worry. I contacted four merchantmen and the coastguard and they are all coming."

Then Carson, too, dropped from sight. Some of the men, through the murk of Thursday afternoon, saw a navy plane overhead. It passed on.

As time dragged on, one man insisted he saw a beautiful shore only a few hundred yards distant, and abandoned his rude raft to swim toward it. The nearest land was 120 miles away.

"Scotty" Bleeds to Death
Another seaman named "Scotty" bled to death after a shark or a carnivorous tropical fish ripped half the flesh off his leg.

The first rescue was made at 1 a. m. on Saturday by a destroyer called up by the navy plane.

Clinging feebly to their bit of flotsam, Third Mate Holmes and Seaman Howard Tanaka saw the fingers of the destroyer's searchlight raking the water.

Sometimes it came close, sometimes it ranged farther away.

Holmes' fumbling fingers came upon his mate's whistle, attached to his watch chain. He blasted loudly. The searchlight seemed to waver and pause.

Remembering Morse code, the mate frantically shrielled on the whistle: "To windward; to windward" over and over. The light shifted about and caught the men directly in its beams.

Saturday morning, in daylight, other destroyers picked up eleven more men. One of them died of exhaustion almost immediately.

Furloughs on Minds Of Illinois Troopers

With the Second Army in Louisiana, Oct. 1.—(AP)—With the big army maneuvers behind them, Camp Forrest troops had one chief thought in mind today—furlough. The troops are expected to be back at their Tennessee base by Oct. 8 and 15-day leaves will start about a week later, said camp commander Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton.

He explained that half of the men would leave at one time and that all furloughs would be completed by Nov. 15.

Czech Executions by Germans Total 88; 256 in Jails

BULLETIN
New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The German radio said today that four persons had been executed and a fifth sentenced to life in prison for sabotage and espionage in the Netherlands.

BULLETIN
London, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Reuters said that it had heard the Prague radio announce today that a state of emergency had been proclaimed in three more districts of the German protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia.

Six districts of the protectorate already were under a state of civil emergency decreed Sunday by the new German trouble shooter, Reinhard Heydrich, within 24 hours after his appointment to suppress revolutionary outbreaks.

Berlin, Oct. 1.—(AP)—German retaliation for Czech attempts to throw off Nazi rule has cost 88 lives in three days. 58 of them yesterday, the third anniversary of the Munich agreement which began the partition of Czechoslovakia, it was reported today.

Six persons were reported executed Sunday and 24 were shot by firing squads Monday.

It was announced that the 58 persons executed yesterday included Karl Capek, a retired colonel of the German army. Among others were said to have been Prof. Wladimir Groh, of the Czech University, and a physician, Dr. Yojtech Yikik.

256 in Custody
Dienst Aus Deutschland, Berlin commentary, disclosed that 256 persons were in custody and being investigated by the Gestapo as a result of the rebellion attempt.

(A British broadcast quoted a secret Czech radio as having called urgently last night "for a general strike as a protest against the Nazi oppression." The BBC report was heard in New York by CBS.)

The executions were part of a program designed to wipe out unruly elements in the Bohemia-Moravia protectorate.

They were ordered after a new reich's protector, Reinhard Heydrich, took over the office in succession to Baron Konstantin von Neurath, who was announced to have asked Adolf Hitler to relieve him temporarily because of health.

Two Divorces Granted In Lee Circuit Court

John Hagerman of this city was granted a decree of divorce from Esther M. Hagerman by Judge George C. Dixon in Lee county circuit court late yesterday. In his petition, Hagerman charged cruel and inhuman treatment and cited instances in which he alleged that his wife struck him with her shoes and a handbag. The couple were married in Dixon December 7, 1936.

Judge Dixon handed down a decision in the contested divorce action filed by Frank Stephens, Brooklyn township farm hand, who last week filed an action charging cruelty. Mrs. Lena Stephens, the defendant in the action, employed at the fashionable Wilmette Country club near Chicago, filed a counter action. Judge Dixon granted Mrs. Stephens the decree on the grounds of cruelty but denied maintenance.

U. S. Must Dominate Post-War Leadership Says Secretary Knox

Navy Chief Outlines His Views On Nation's Future Role

Indianapolis, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Secretary of Navy Knox declared today that once the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis has been defeated the United States and Great Britain must pool their forces "to stop new aggression . . . at its beginnings" in the post-war world.

The United States, said Knox, "must provide both the major power and the dominant leadership" for the task.

The navy chief outlined his views on the nation's future international role in a speech prepared for the 64th annual convention of the American Bar Association.

Repeatedly he emphasized American insistence on freedom of the seas—"it is for this we have fought two wars and now, for a third time, have declared we shall insist upon at whatever cost—come what may."

Should war come, he said, "far better a distant war, than one at home."

"If we must fight" and mark this well, there will not be for many years to come a time when we may not have to fight, then with modern weapons what they are, let us determine that we will fight elsewhere than on our own soil."

Predicts Defeat of Nazis
He dealt on the advantages now accruing to the United States and Britain because of the combined control of the seas by their two fleets, and predicted: "Eventually we shall lock Nazi Germany up in an iron ring, and within that ring of seapower she shall perish."

Apocryphal of the American navy's operations, he reported: "We are already sweeping the German pirates from the North Atlantic, and bringing to England the products of the arsenal we have set up here."

That statement aroused conjecture whether the secretary had positive evidence that the navy's new shoot-on-sight policy was clearing raiders out of the Atlantic. There has been no announcement on the subject since the Atlantic fleet's orders became effective Sept. 16, although Knox promised then that "we'll tell the world" if any encounters occurred.

There was food for speculation, too, in the mention Knox made of Japan when he talked of ultimate axis defeat. In recent

2 Mendota Youths Injured in Crash

(Telegraph Special Service)
Mendota, Oct. 1.—Two Mendota youths men, Harold Guilfoyle and Jack Reeder, were seriously injured at about 12:30 o'clock this morning while returning from LaSalle, when the auto in which they were riding and which was driven by Reeder, crashed into an unlighted and unlicensed car which was parked on state highway 52 near the Eichberger station, about five miles south of Mendota.

The parked car was said to have been occupied by three negroes who fled after the crash. The injured boys were brought to the Harris hospital here in the Schwartz ambulance, and at noon today Guilfoyle was still unconscious, suffering from head injuries and a possible fractured skull. Reeder, suffering face and head injuries, and a possible fractured nose, was still in the hospital, also.

Barrett Quits Bar Assn. When Speech Is Not Broadcast

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 1.—Because his speech was not broadcast nationally, Attorney General George F. Barrett of Illinois resigned from the National Association of Attorneys-General and left its convention with a declaration that:

"I shall never permit you or your association or any other group to hinder me in my fight against nazism, fascism, communism or new dealism."

That telegram was sent to Earl Warren of California, president of the association, who did not comment. Barrett made his speech locally over radio station WISH and left last night for his Springfield office.

Warren said today he considered Barrett's action as "much ado about nothing."

Warren said Barrett had made arrangements for broadcast of his speech before consulting association officials. He added Barrett was told it was doubtful whether the program could be arranged so his speech could be delivered at the hour set for the broadcast.

Claims Action Approved
Warren said it developed the session at which Barrett was to have spoken did not convene until half an hour after the broadcast time.

Warren said the association adopted a resolution approving the action taken by him and by the executive committee with regard to the address.

Barrett's speech, charging that "continuous concentration of power in the new deal" is increasing the danger of "tyrannical and dictatorial government" in the United States, was to have been delivered before the convention yesterday afternoon. The Illinois official said Warren refused to permit a broadcast, but said it could be delivered behind closed doors.

National Broadcasting Company officials at Chicago said that Warren asked for cancellation of the speech because he could not find Barrett.

One Killed, 41 Hurt in Canadian Railroad Wreck Last Evening

Maskinonge, Que., Oct. 1.—(A P)—A veteran railroad brakeman was killed and 41 persons, some of them prominent in Canadian public life, were injured last night in the wreck of the Montreal-Quebec express train "Vigara," one of Canada's fastest trains.

The train struck a split rail, railroad officials said. It was reported to have been traveling 75 miles an hour.

Half of the eight-car train left the rails and the diner pitched upside down into the almost-dry bed of the narrow Maskinonge river, 60 feet below the track.

The dead man was J. A. Couture of Montreal, an employee of the Canadian Pacific Railroad for 40 years and brakeman on the royal train between Quebec and Montreal when King George VI and Queen Elizabeth visited Canada.

Mayor Fearful

Mayor W. V. Slothower, fearful that for the first time in the history of Dixon its citizens will fail to meet their obligations in a nation-wide patriotic effort, this morning stated that unless the city's quota of $1,800 for the United Service Organizations is donated by Monday it will be necessary for him and his committee to start a "button-holing" campaign to raise the $700 which the Dixon fund is short. Contributions can be made to Treasurer Clyde Lenox at the City National bank.

Maintenance of Unfettered Press Fundamental Obligation Says FDR

New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Newspapers in 5,000 communities joined today in opening national newspaper week as President Roosevelt sounded the keynote with the declaration that "the maintenance of an unfettered press is a fundamental obligation of patriotism."

Following is the text of a letter the chief executive wrote William M. Hardy, chairman of the Newspaper Association Managers' Committee in charge of the observance:

"The recurrence of national newspaper week should awaken in the hearts and souls of all Americans a renewed determination to defend and maintain and perpetuate the priceless heritage of a free press."

"The maintenance of an unfettered press, informed by truth and guided by courage and conscience and wholehearted devotion to the public welfare, is a fundamental obligation of patriotism."

"I trust as a result of the forthcoming observance that Americans everywhere will have a renewed sense of the incalculable blessing which a free press confers. It must be maintained against all assaults."

Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of War Stimson and other public officials expressed similar sentiments concerning the program, which is built around the slogan "The Newspaper Lights the Way of Freedom."

Shiploads of War Supplies to Egypt

Cairo, Egypt, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Shiploads of war supplies from the United States are moving through Egyptian ports to the western desert, where British now has greater strength than ever before, and to the northern defense line below the Turkish frontier.

The volume strains limited unloading facilities. White-robed Egyptian stevedores work by day and British troops by night to move the cargoes—planes, tanks, other battle material and general merchandise.

In visiting various ports I have seen vessels bulging with goods brought from America. More than 20 United States ships already have arrived with lease-lend supplies.

In addition, British, Danish, Dutch and other freighters are docking with troops and British empire battle equipment.

New wharves and many miles of railways have been built and existing piers have been lengthened in an effort to relieve congestion.

Tanks, completely assembled and fueled, are set down in lighters, moved ashore and then driven to a desert ordnance depot for inspection and assignment.

Numbered crates bear other motor vehicles. Planes, likewise, must be assembled after they are landed.

Dart Quits Post With Walgreen's

Justin W. Dart, general manager of the Walgreen company since Aug. 10, 1939, has formally severed his official connection with the 29 million dollar drug store chain, it was disclosed yesterday. A company communication said that Dart has been inactive for "several months."

Up to the time he became inactive, Dart had shared the management of the company—one of the largest drug chains in the country—with Charles R. Walgreen, Jr., son of the founder. When the late Charles R. Walgreen Sr. retired from the presidency in 1939, his son was made president, and Dart, who had been sharing some of the duties of management with the elder Walgreen, was named general manager.

Dart was a football star and honor student at Northwestern university. Shortly after graduation he went to work for the company as a drug store clerk and after a year or so entered the company's general offices.

He was at one time married to Walgreen's daughter, but later was divorced and remarried. The elder Walgreen left a substantial share of his estate to Dart who is director of the drug company.

Dart could not be reached last night to discuss his future business plans. He recently bought a large ranch near Nimrock, Ariz.

Haberdashery Is Offered In Ready Made Ensembles

Whether it's the persistent prodding of their wives, or merely a late awakening of their own taste, men are now looking toward harmony in their wearing apparel. Today, even a color-blind male is completely safe in "following the Arrow" to a feature which blends a shirt, tie, and handkerchief perfectly in four basic tones of blue, green, brown, and grey.

These combinations are especially prepared with an eye to ensemble, showing, for example, a figured tie with a striped shirt (in which case the tie picks up the color from the shirt), and a handkerchief which pairs the blend in both shirt and tie. This arrangement is a godsend to the commuter whose split-second timing is often knocked out of the house by a wife whose color sense won't allow her husband to go out of the house in an ill-chosen color combination.

With a shirt, tie, and handkerchief already blended, it is an easy matter for a man to work out the rest of the color scheme to suit, socks, and hat. In the past, most men avoided trying to wear color combinations because, too often, they wound up with a distinct argument on their chests between their shirt and tie. As a result they resorted to wearing the plain white shirt which goes well with any color.

Seeks Contrasts
Without any intention of deprecating the white shirt, the drab appearance of the ordinary made can be heightened if color is added. This is particularly true for light-complexioned people. Dark-complexioned men with heavy stubby beards should usually avoid color in their shirts because they need the contrast of a white collar to improve their appearance.

For those men who feel skilled enough to do their own mixing and matching of colors in shirt and ties, there are some basic rules to bear in mind; with pastel, light-colored shirts, wear a darker-toned tie, and vice versa. If the shirt has a predominant stripe, it is best to wear small-figured tie. If the shirt has a wide stripe not too predominant, it is perfectly permissible to wear a striped tie with wider spaces between the stripes. For shirts with a complicated mixture of stripes, it is more difficult to select a tie, but you can never go wrong in wearing harmonizing or contrasting solid color ties.

With this style awakening, men are also putting the breast pocket to its original purpose—the use of a handkerchiefs instead of unsightly pencils, papers, cigarettes, etc. Without a handkerchief showing in this pocket, an otherwise good ensemble can be ruined, for the all-over color of a suit needs a break with something showing at this handkerchief slot.

Mix and Match
The selection of a handkerchief fits into the same category as the selection of a tie. When wearing a loud checked suit, a man should wear a white or plain colored handkerchief. If he is wearing a plain suit, he should show some contrast in the handkerchief. In other words, a balance should be maintained between shirt, tie, handkerchief, suit, and socks. A man can go wild on any two of these items, if he keeps them separated and tones down the other three items. For instance, he can wear wild socks and a wild tie, but the shirt, handkerchief and suit must be subdued. He can wear a flashy Glen Plaid suit with large Argyle socks, but the other three items—shirt, tie, and handkerchief, should be in simple conservative taste.

These rules can be hardly taken as formulae to cover all exigencies that confront a man in the throes of selecting his daily attire; however, it should help create an awareness of the entire effect of color harmony and contrast which will eventually bring about a clothes consciousness on the part of all American males.

Patriotism Is Kevnote in U. S. Furniture Styles

The surge of patriotism is making itself felt in furniture styles, for much Early American, Federal, and Colonial furniture is being sold now. Pieces are light-colored, replacing the cruder, more rugged types of designs. All works of American designers are being revived and promoted according to the patriotic theme. Red and blue are the most popular colors this year, and designers are doing smart living rooms, as well as other rooms in the house, in red, white and blue color schemes.

All kinds of curio cabinets to exhibit foreign objects are being shown. An example of what's new in this line is a Chinese Chipendale hanging wall shelf in mahogany with bamboo posts and a fretted gallery.

Taken From Air

One prediction of some importance is that new styles will be taken from the air. Easy chairs, similar to those used in air liners, which are adjustable for different postures, will take their place in the home. These are light-weight and also large enough for solid comfort. Such chairs can be manufactured at a much lower cost than heavy chairs, and they make housecleaning simpler for the housewife, as they may be moved with little trouble.

Light colors are another effect of airplane styling. Perhaps we shall even see the day when our homes are equipped with small vents controlling ventilation, so that one person may have cool air, while another prefers the temperature warmer.

Like Father, Like Son Is Dictum For Styling of Boys' Fall Wear

The young fry, starting from the ages of 10 to 12, up through high school and freshman year at college, are going to be seen in large numbers this fall sporting the new two-way vest, which gives them an excellent "change of scene" and an opportunity to vary their costumes with a minimum of change and extra garments.

This innovation is by way of a borrowed idea from the young men's sports wear, which has seen the rapid development of the sleeveless sweater with fabric front and knitted back in lieu of the single fronted vest.

For some years now the two-way idea, especially in trench coats or rain wear, has been taking on. The two-way vest is a logical development of this fashion which has enjoyed a wide acceptance. A typical two-way vest, and one especially favored is the combination of Glen plaid and camel's hair, which offers a match for either a camel's hair sports coat or a plaid with contrasting or matching opportunities for slacks. As in the men's field, the slacks will continue to be popular in gray flannel and tan or blue gabardine. Generally speaking, the boy's wear will continue to offer a higher selection of rough fabrics associated with the sports or casual picture than will be encountered in men's clothing. This is another indication of the continuing popularity of the sports jacket and the slacks combination, which has already made a definite impression on the men's style picture this fall.

Hosiery

A wide selection of hosiery will be available to fit into the general sports wear picture, and with the public's attention focussed on the Wool Labeling Act, which became effective on July 15th, more attention is bound to be paid by consumers to the wool content of the hosiery.

The overcoat picture in the boys' field continues to be somewhat sour with topcoats holding the favored position because of their sportier appearance and lightness in weight. The general opinion in the trade is that the growing emphasis on sports wear, universally heavier than everyday suits, has tended to edge the boys' overcoats out.

This fall, as last, the topcoat in greater favor will probably be the single-breasted covert cloth—either fly-front or button-through with set-in sleeves, following the same style pattern as in men's wear. Corduroy finger-tip lengths in everyday wear will also be popular.

In suits, the double-breasted jackets will pick up again as usual for the cooler weather ahead. Colors and materials, as in men's wear, will be grays, browns and blues, in hard-finished worsted and in tweeds, saxories, chevots and flannels, with the tweeds continuing.

Gowns Shine After Dark

In our efforts to help the rest of the world's democratic nations, we Americans will live gayer lives this coming fall and winter. Our night life will include charity drives, patriotic galas, and training camp entertainment participation, all of which will give us more reason for dressing in formal finery.

Catching the spirit of the season, evening fashions are brilliant-luxuriant, take to enriched fabrics, and express a sense of opulence that has not been with us for more than a generation!

Two distinct trends are to be noted—the "covered" trend, and a very formal, very decoleto "picture dress" trend. In the new dinner fashions, which show all indications of being a major percentage of the evening dress business, shoulders and necks are covered, with sleeves invariably featured, whether they be long or short. For dinner wear, crepes continue to lead in fabrics—with jerseys, especially mat, crepey, and often baghera jerseys, stronger than ever. Soft satin also is a smart fashion highlight by candlelight.

Formal Fashions

Formal fashions, are ultra feminine—very dramatic—and "pretty". In fact, many of these fashions with their tiered and ruffled skirts are reminiscent of crino-lines, particularly when they are developed in tulle and net.

The off-the-shoulder line in formal fashions look particularly flattering. Bodices are body-moulded—waistlines, small in contrast to the wide flare of the skirt.

Crisp fabrics are stressed for these very formal fashions with taffetas stronger for Fall than they have been for many years, particularly all sorts of novelty taffetas with metal and cellophane threads and designs. Tulle and net—stiff velvets—and slipper satins—and finally moire in a limited high-fashion way, complete the formal evening fabric picture.

Every wardrobe, to be really suited to the social demands of the season ahead, should include one dress for dinners and "little" evenings... and one so shimmering and figure enhancing that it will endow the wearer with the glamour of a Scheherazade!

Inquest Into Death of Sheriff on Saturday

Elizabethtown, Ill., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The twice-postponed inquest in the death of Deputy Sheriff C. C. Ashford who was found dead of bullet wounds in his automobile near Rosiclare last Tuesday night has been rescheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Coroner L. D. Dusch and Sheriff Otis Brittain who began the investigation both contended Ashford was slain with his own revolver which was found near his body and State's Attorney Clarence E. Soward expressed similar conviction when he entered the investigation last week end. The inquest previously was postponed because Soward was out of the county.

A Thought for Today

Let no man deceive you with vain words; for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience.—Ephesians 5:6.

The true way to be deceived is to think oneself more knowing than others.—La Rochefoucauld.

Games, Grim and Gay

The crack of the bat, the thud of the punter's toe against the football—in these things, in the autumn of this year 1941, Americans are still blessedly permitted to be interested. The World Series, the opening games of the football season, these hold briefly our attention, while across the world people watch and play their parts in a grimmer game.

Does it seem irresponsible for a great nation to rivet its attention on the hop of a sharp-hit baseball or the spiral flight of a deftly tossed forward pass, while there is being fought what may prove to have been the bloodiest battle the world has ever seen?

We think not. In spite of wars, revolutions, and all the tumults of the social organization, life must go on. No one can forget Carlyle's vivid picture of how in Paris, during the most shocking horrors of the Reign of Terror, thousands went the way of their daily life quite heedless of all these things. The pitcher must go to the well, and the clothes must go to the laundry in the face of the greatest and most world-shaking events.

Business can't be "as usual," and life can't be "as usual" in these days. The overwhelming stark fact of war throws its shadow over every activity of man throughout the world. Yet man is so constituted that in the face of the most over-powering disasters, he grasps for such pleasures as he can, and finds them good. If British people who may, before any morning's sun rises, be bombed into eternity, can spend those evenings at the movies (and they do) there is no good reason why the people of the United States should not sit cheering in the stands while yet they may. World Series and football crowds this fall may well be the greatest of history.

Get out into the glorious fall weather, then, and cheer your team. Try to put out of your mind for a few hours that other game that is being played with the heart's blood of men and women for a stake no less than the freedom of the world.

Its terrible, unsolved questions, its innings not yet played, its outcome not yet determined, will be waiting when you leave the stadium.

Don't Play the Hitler Game

The very able statement by nearly a hundred American leaders on racial and religious intolerance ought to be pondered by every American citizen. Under the auspices of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, these leaders merged their own very diverse political, social, and religious backgrounds in an eloquent plea for toleration and understanding.

Confusion and division have been definitely and consciously used as weapons by the nazis. The trick of fomenting racial and religious divisions in opposing countries, thus robbing them of their strength, has been exposed again and again.

Forewarned is forearmed. Don't fall for it. Let every citizen guard his own tongue, and squelch the peddlers of hate. Then it won't work in America.

It Was Worth While

A final summary of the drive to collect scrap aluminum shows that 11,835,139 pounds was turned in. While somewhat short of what was expected, this is an impressive total, equal to the amount of aluminum in 350 big four-motored bombers.

Probably the actual scrap aluminum turned in will not be used to build bombers, but it seems certain that this addition to stocks will ameliorate, at least to some degree, the shortage of the metal. It was worth doing, if only because it points the way to other hidden sources of material, such as scrap iron and paper which can be similarly uncovered.

Rambling Rumors

Every American owes his country the duty today of swatting wild rumors.

Rumor is a weapon, the totalitarian propagandists have never hesitated to use. Dull its edge by skepticism and investigation. Never repeat the harem-scarem stories from unknown sources; challenge the man who does.

Typical example: Word goes 'round that the Army has ordered 7,500,000 chevrons. What! For an Army of a million and a half men? Waste! Inefficiency! Terrible!

But wait a minute! Every lance corporal, corporal, sergeant, warrant officer and the whole non-commissioned hierarchy must have chevrons on every shirt, blouse, or coat they wear. At least 16 pairs for every such man. Now figure it out again. It was simple when you stop to think, wasn't it? Well, stop to think!

"Say It Ain't So!"

For years Americans have striven to bake, toast, grill, fry, scorch, parboil and otherwise partially incinerate themselves in the sunshine. It has at times come close to a mania.

Now comes Dr. Hugh Cabot, saying that while sunshine may supply useful vitamins to growing children, for adults its benefits are open to question, being chiefly confined, he suspects, to "an illusion of health."

Ah, but that isn't the final word, doctor. If an "illusion of health" is strong enough, what's the practical difference between that and health itself?

Move that chair over into the sun a little farther, will you? A-a-a-h! That's good!

Autos are up, tires are up, gas is up—only pedestrians are down.

Washington

Hugh S. Johnson Writes From Capital During Mallon's Illness

Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—Donald Nelson, the priorities pooch-bah says it is too late to put a ceiling over all prices to stop inflation and so we must attack only a few—not including wages.

Floyd Odium, who is charged with getting the little fellow a break in farming out defense contracts, says that started six months too late.

After jimmying around for two years with inadequate tax bills, Mr. Morgenthau in an off-hand moment suddenly proposes a 6% profits limitation tax on industry which would ruin most of small employers not already ruined by the unplanned and headlong priorities excess.

The supposed gasoline shortage was sprung on us out of a clear sky and rather absurd and apparently futile restrictions, applied without warning.

If all these moves were so late what explains the delay? The increasing difficulty of the situation has been apparent for over a year. The means to attack it had been suggested over and over again by veterans of our first World war effort. That precedent stood on the record so plainly that it had been adopted by every other country in the war, including Germany.

But for some reason our government would have none of it. Various reasons were advanced. One was that this was a 1941 war and didn't need any 1918 advice. Another—and this has been persistent and imbedded in all the reasoning—was that this new deal government was fully provided with talent and didn't need or want any non-new deal assistance or advice.

It may be so, but it is a significant thing that all that old and rejected advice is gradually being reluctantly accepted under the iron clutch and compulsion of circumstances—and as usual—"too little and too late."

Since this column has been conducting a modest crusade for the bearing of these errors on the little fellow and the consumer, its mail has never been so copious. The instances are enough to bring tears to the eyes of a granite gargyle. Don't make any mistake about it. The elimination of small business through inability to get reasonable supplies is not something in the distant future. It is not going on. The pinch on housewives through rising prices is nothing that they do not feel. Leon Henderson testified that the cost of feeding families has gone up 8% in the past few weeks and is going further unless it is stopped. For the average family that hasn't enough income to save much, that is just 8% taken out of papa's pay-envelope—it is only a beginning. If it isn't stopped it is going to rise to 20% or 30% and nobody knows how much higher.

This is a great hidden tax. It is a tax on those least able to bear it. Go on a little further with this trend. Whom do you hit? The rich? They can stand it, you hit the poor. You hit them in the bread-basket—painfully. You hit the very classes upon which this administration has relied for votes. Furthermore you do good to nobody.

There is scarcely a military commentator from Julius Caesar through Napoleon, Hindenburg, Von Ludendorff or who doesn't say that the morale of the civilian population in war is as important as the morale of the armies.

The growing tide of resentment among masses of our people against the wretched mismanagement and lack of planning may be in its first stages, but the evidences of it are unmistakable. The high-wide-and-handsome boys in the seats of the mighty would do well to heed.

U. S. factories produced 80.5 percent of all the automobiles in the world in 1940.

Auto service stations derive 76 percent of their revenue from the sale of gasoline.

SERIAL STORY

BRIDE FROM THE SKY

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

NO HELP FOR JUDY

CHAPTER XXI

JUDY walked to the staid, limping a little because one foot had a high-heeled slipper and the other foot hit bottom with every step.

"Miss Allen?" the voice of the law asked, carefully noting the disheveled copper curls, the shadows under the purple eyes.

"Yes, Your Honor."

"Are you willing to state that the stories and photographs of you in these morning papers are, without doubt, yourself?"

The lost dimples played around Judy's mouth for a second.

"I didn't come down any too gracefully, did I?" she asked. "In this pose even my skirts are ballooning."

She heard laughter. The judge rapped for silence.

Judy looked up in surprise. "I'm sorry. You see, my father is a Common Pleas Judge, too, so I forgot to be scared." She gave the judge on the bench a dazzling smile. "Yes, I'm in the pictures. I haven't read the articles. I'm sorry."

"Will you please tell the court what happened?" The judge leaned back and relaxed. Several times he covered his amusement with a long hand which he passed over his face.

At the end he set Judy's bond at $1000. She did not flinch. "I cannot meet the amount," she stated as calmly as the associate editor of Under Twenty should state her facts. "If I may get in touch with my father or my fiancé I shall be able to meet the bond you are setting, and obtain a lawyer instantly."

SHE was led away at once. Sandy followed but she swung a heavy door closed before he reached it.

"Where are the telephones?" she asked the attendant who was guiding her. She wondered what people did when they were in jail and didn't have a nickel with which to summon the operator for a call.

The officer who was conducting her on her various missions was genial and sympathetic. Judy smiled again. "Officer, will you lend me a nickel until I summon an operator? Or better still, will you call the operator for me?"

The man grinned sheepishly, found a dime in his pocketbook, and gave it to Judy. She dialed, heard the click which returned the coin and reached from the booth to give the officer the money.

"It's a station to station call, collect," she told the operator. "It's terribly important."

"That number does not answer," the smooth, metallic voice of the operator reported in a moment. "Would you like to try another number?"

Judy gave her father's office number at the court. The call was accepted by Judge Allen's secretary who said: "Judy? Your father is in court. He expected to hear from you so he left a message. I'll read it." She opened a crisp paper whose rustling carried across the wires.

"Have no connection with Judy's escapade. Grant no advice. Judgment and taste inexorably bad. Refuse any responsibility for bail. Time she learned a lesson."

THE world was small and close and tight. The world was no bigger than this telephone booth. That faint voice that tried to speak was not hers. Just the same, it said, "I can make him understand. I was kidnaped! It wasn't a stunt. Can't you make him see?"

"Your father is furious. Sorry, Judy, but I'm not much help. I'll get in all the words I can. He wouldn't take any calls at all from you last night."

"Calls—from me?" Judy's voice whispered. "I didn't call. I've been locked up with a rat that likes to eat. Is—is Philip still at the hotel?"

"Oh, yes, he approves everything your father does." Judy did not say goodbye. She hung up so quietly even the young officer outside the door didn't know she had finished.

She asked to be escorted to her cell then.

She was aware that Sandy tried to reach her again, but she turned away and held her white, rougless face high. In her cell a new blue calico waited for her. There were white stripes on it. Plainly it stood for something like "Women's Department."

"Been told that you'll be more likely to get cold in that lace stuff," the matron said. "I'll save the white dress until you want it. How soon will you be checking out?"

"I don't know," Judy answered. "Maybe not ever—because nobody will loan me the money for bond, let alone for my fine and costs."

"When do you appear before the Municipal Court?"

From some weary compartment of her mind where she had stored other half-heard suggestions, Judy summoned the answer. "Day after tomorrow."

"Then what will happen?" "I'll probably go to the state reformatory for women and learn to make hooked rugs."

SHE was afraid, more afraid than she wanted to reveal, so she laughed.

She asked for a telegraph blank and sent two telegrams, collect, 200 words each. One went to her father. The other went to Phil.

Now surely answers would come. Perhaps her family had not understood. Maybe Philip thought she had gone sky-riding for the daring of it. Now Sandy would have understood—Sandy! If it hadn't been for his crazy, barnstorming theft of her, she would be married to Phil and wearing a diamond circlet.

Suddenly she looked at the two-karat diamond engagement ring she wore. It was nice. If Phil wanted it she would put it in a black velvet box and send it back, though.

Half an hour passed. Then another. On and on. Regularly either an attendant or the matron came to Judy's cell to plead for an admittance for Sandy. He wrote notes which she returned unopened. Finally, at 4 o'clock she received a telegram.

She opened it, with trembling fingers, and turned to the signature.

Dainty Diva Gives Advice About Glamour

Most women have come to take for granted the importance of visiting the dentist every three weeks and the doctor once a year, but not visiting the beauty parlor every week. According to petite Lily Pons, who is the Metropolitan Opera's most immaculately groomed star, no woman can afford to be lax about her beauty routine.

"No matter how rushed you are, or how heavy your schedule," declares the dainty diva, "it is important to arrange your time to allow for regular visits to the beauty parlor. Hair, scalp and nails—all require more special care and treatment than any woman can give them herself and should be placed in the hands of a competent and skillful operator."

"A weekly shampoo and set are absolutely indispensable," declares Miss Pons, "if your hair is inclined to be oily. If it is of the dry type, once in two weeks will do the trick very nicely. Also, if your hair is dry, a hot oil shampoo once a month is highly beneficial."

Sweaters Are A Fall Need

Sweaters this fall, along with woolen hosiery and neckties, are more important than ever. This is especially true of the sleeveless sweater, which is full-filling earlier predictions of moving in as a permanent part of the sports and semi-sports picture.

Three types which show signs of becoming extremely popular include the old sleeved favorite, the cardigan, for casual sports and home wear; the sleeveless shetland pullover, marked by solid blues and grays; and the gabardine-front pullover with knitted back.

These last two types have become increasingly popular during the past year for wear under sports coats.

NECKWEAR MAKES NEWS

Many of the fashions we'll be wearing, call for the use of separate neckwear again. The college crowd, practical as always, started the idea of dickeys under suit jackets, and there are many shirt collared dresses this year which also take to dickeys which have the same collar styling.

Even very dressy dresses with high necklines, are made more elegant with the addition of a bib, or plastron.

Motif: Horn of Plenty

Autumn wheat is the dominant color chosen by Hilda Burke, lovely star of the Metropolitan Opera Company, for a fall luncheon setting. Many hued vegetables tumbling out of the cornucopia, and tomato shaped soup dishes add colorful notes.

New Fashions Give Smart Evidence Of America's Creative Independence

The smart appearance of America's women during the past few seasons has proved that this nation has come of age in creative fashion ability. For the first time, our designers have been on their own, divorced from the inspiration of fashions of foreign origin, due to world affairs. And they have proved that our own nation is rich in fashion inspiration; that the present is as stimulating as the past in suggesting fashion interpretation; and that American designers know the kind of fashions best suited to the American tempo of living.

Eased casualness personifies the American woman by day, whether her time be devoted to career, home, or patriotic service. With the hands of the clock turning toward the p. m. hours, she emerges in fashions more romantically feminine, soft easiness from shoulder to waistline; undulating slimmness from hip to hemline; her legs sheathed in stockings subtly, shadowy dark; on her perfectly groomed head a hat strategically angled to awaken interest in her eyes, in the contours of her profile. Her hands encased in color. Learned in the art of commanding color to do her loveliness service, the American woman gives one fashion several lives; accessorizing it once with perfectly matching colors from millinery to footwear. Again, she spikes the same fashion with startling contrasting color—flag red, intense green, royal blue. And for her most feminine moods she uses accessories in the healthful tones of blue, the hearty tones.

Jewelry Shows Its Patriotism

Gadget jewelry is the school girl's first love; and this year introduces many delightful fads which will prove collectors' items for every high school and college co-ed. Ranging from romantic to patriotic, from functional to comical, they're all good taste.

Earrings, in pearls, colored cabochons, flowers and geometric patterns are worn with sweaters as well as evening gowns, with date dresses, and classroom costumes. And every school girl will want an armful of bangle bracelets, preferably in silver, but also in gold and gay multicolors.

Wheat, wine, olive oil and hemp are the four leading crops of Italy.

Enough iron to make four ten-penny nails is contained in the human body.

The planet Saturn is so light that if it could be placed in water it would float.

Broad Expansion of Social Security Set Up Planned by F.D.R.

Special Message Will Go To Congress Soon Asking Revision

Washington, Oct. 1—(AP)—A special message will go to congress soon detailing President Roosevelt's recommendations for a broad expansion of the social security program which would double the number of workers covered and probably increase the contributions of employers and employees.

Roosevelt told a press conference yesterday that such a move would be beneficial in two ways: deterring inflation by making a smaller amount of earnings available for the purchase of scarce consumer goods, and guarding against deflation when the post-emergency transition is made to a normal economy.

By the president's own estimate, the number of persons covered by social security provisions would be jumped from 40,000,000 to 80,000,000.

Particulars of the plan were withheld pending preparation of the presidential message, which Roosevelt said would be sent to congress soon. Several changes, however, are known to have been under discussion by interested officials.

One of these called for extending the contributory old-age insurance system to farm laborers, domestic servants, self-employed persons, farm operators and others not currently covered.

May Raise Tax
Another plan proposed broadening the unemployment insurance regulations to take in maritime workers and employees of firms with a payroll of less than eight—both now exempt classes.

Treasury and social security experts also were working on a plan to liberalize federal grants to less prosperous states, to permit payment of larger old age pensions (non-contributory benefits, as contrasted to the payments to individuals made under the old age insurance system).

The original law called for equal contributions from employer and employee of 1 per cent of individual salaries up to $3,000. That scale was to be maintained for the first three years, through 1939. Then it was to be raised to 1½ per cent for the next three years, and so on until each would pay 3 per cent after 1949. However, in 1939 congress froze the 1 per cent tax through 1942.

One plan reported under study would raise the tax to 1½ per cent next year.

A battalion in the United States Army consists of between 300 and 800 men, with a lieutenant-colonel or a major in command.

"Shoot the Works" To Be Presented Here October 28

Chairman Victor Eichler of the entertainment committee of Dixon lodge of Elks today announced the presentation of an outstanding feature to be staged at the Dixon high school auditorium on the evening of Tuesday, Oct. 28 for the public of Dixon and vicinity. The entertainment committee has arranged for the appearance of the noted production, "Shoot the Works", a 90 minute entertainment, with stars featuring a fine program. The entertainment will be given for the Dixon Elks crippled children's fund.

Joe Bonnell and his company of noted entertainers chosen from radio, stage, screen and other entertainment fields, promise a performance of diversified entertainment which will be a novelty attraction. Bonnell, a continent entertainer, is producing his fourteenth successful road show. He is a famed artist and entertainer, whose unique career has taken him to many of the world's leading playhouses. He speaks seven different languages and has numerous accents, which have pleased playgoers both abroad and in many American theaters.

Other Features
Included in this outstanding revue is Ray Conlin and Sparks O'Connor, an outstanding ventriloquist team that have been heard by millions, both on the air and from the theater stage. Bobby DuHart, whose successful two year tour with the Jack Hilton Continental Revue, and "We're in the Army Now," a recent New York successful stage show, is another of the featured entertainers. Don Seth will act as master of ceremonies in a comedy sketch, "Magic in the Air," and Eileen Fae Hansen, with the velvety voice of radio, will give her renditions of popular songs. These are but a few of the feature numbers to be presented by the "Shoot the Works" company and the entire proceeds will go to the very worthy and deserving Dixon Elks crippled children's fund.

Nylon Shoes Make Debut

First it gave us hardy stockings, then it gave us wonderfully light foundation garments, and now nylon is giving us shoes that have many real advantages, in addition to their beauty and light weight.

Nylon appears in shoes as a woven fabric which has great tensile strength, sheds water, is fire repellent, and retains its shape to the last wearing. In appearance, much like a dull serge, nylon is seen in fall and winter shoes in black, brown and navy.

AAA Payments to Illinois Farmers Over 37 Millions

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 1—(AP)—AAA payments to Illinois farmers this year are expected to total more than $37,000,000.

State Chairman Lee M. Gentry, announcing the first checks were being distributed, said today they would be well above the $34,033,555 paid out in Illinois last year but short of the 1939 all-time high of $39,661,603.

The increase comes in the agricultural conservation payments of 9 cents for each bushel of corn and 8 cents for wheat for farmers who stay within the production allotments. They are estimated at $27,000,000, compared with $23,422,237 in 1940 when a straight 10 per cent deduction was ordered because the congressional appropriation was insufficient.

Combined in the same check for each AAA cooperator will be the parity payment—10 cents a bushel of wheat and 5 cents a bushel of corn—designed to raise the purchasing power of farm commodities.

Parity payments state AAA headquarters predicted, will be approximately the same as last year—corn, $8,569,384; wheat, $2,041,934; cotton, 21,232, with an additional $43,000 under the sugar act.

The first payments went to Johnson county, where 81 farmers will get $7,189 as soon as the checks clear through the treasury's disbursing office at Chicago, presumably this week. Gentry predicted the job of sending out 165,000 checks wouldn't be completed until the end of the year.

BAGS TAKE TO COLOR
Very new looking is an antiquated surface given to handbags, while colors for casual wear run from black, brown and winter navy, to danger red and emerald green, with perhaps greatest favor shown the saddle colors burnished and wearable with any color fashion. In the dresser bags, the smartest colors are black, brown, heartbeet, and a new green with a slightly blue cast.

One of the earliest exhibition parachute jumps was made from the Statue of Liberty.

Rain Styles Will Brighten Cloudy Days

Men who shop for raincoats this fall are due for many pleasant surprises in the vastly improved models which have just recently put in their appearance. Down with tradition, must have been the designers' war-cry, as they have created coats that are modernized in every detail and as a result offer more comfort, convenience, and protection to the wearer. There are new fabrics of rayon, cotton, and wool, and the various new plastics—fabrics admirably suited to the task of turning back the storm and keeping up a good appearance at the same time. Lighter weights prevail, as they do not tend to overheat or smother the wearer. So far, the single-breasted have been the best sellers, but the belted military models are rapidly gaining.

Among the outstanding raincoats recently introduced is one tailored from tangle twill, a Crown Tested rayon-and-cotton blend widely used in football pants and uniforms for parachute troops. It is a tough, snag-proof material, bright on one side and dull on the other. The raincoats are made with the bright side in giving the effect of a self-lining that permits the coat to slide on and off easily over the shoulders, without binding on clothing worn underneath.

Color Favorite
The big color favorite for rainwear is a drab tan—the color always associated with trench coats. Linings often match, but can lend a dash of color to a rainy day by appearing in a pleasing plaid. The man who likes his raincoat to look like a topcoat may go for one of the darker colors, like black, brown or navy blue.

One of the rainwear styles that originated on the campus, but has fast crept into every well dressed man's wardrobe, is the reversible coat, processed on one side to shed shower drops. Styled with the most careful tailoring, the reversible coat is at its best this year. Going one step further than this style, is the coat with removable, water processed lining. Not only can this coat serve in fair weather and foul; it is also an all-year, four-season coat, because by removing its lining it becomes lightweight enough for spring.

Summing up for rainwear, the styles on the ascent in single-breasted coats are set-in sleeves with fly front and button-through fronts, also with set-in sleeves. In the double-breasted style, trench coats with raglan sleeves and the military style with set-in sleeves are about equally popular.

The largest foreign market for American motion pictures is the United Kingdom. Argentina ranks second and Spain third.

Of Material Interest

In fabrics, there is a distinct trend toward weaves with more surface interest. In crepes, which continue prevalent in daytime frocks, the famous old-time Roshanara and marocain weaves are being revived—with even a few matelasse novelties being shown. In wools, soft spongy fabrics, often with slight hair treatments, are the fashion leaders, with hard-finished crisp worsted crepes giving way to these softer, drapier types. It should be noted that spun rayons are entering the woolen field strongly this year, both in all spun and in spun rayon-and-wool versions—with spongy suiting weight tweeds represented in spun rayons as well.

Gabardines and coverts continue classic sports sellers in spun rayons, with flannels showing a decline in favor of tweedy textures in novelties such as checks, plaids, and stripes.

Illinois Marketing Quota Protest Assn. Has Been Organized

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The newly organized Illinois Marketing Quota Protest Association sought statewide membership today for what its leaders termed a campaign to seek invalidation of the agricultural department's wheat marketing quota and penalty tax program.

Quick action was necessary, said organization director E. E. Kennedy, "before a similar tax might be imposed on the corn crop."

Chairman of the association is Fred R. Wolf of Papineau. Other officers named yesterday were Arthur Hellemann, Tremont; J. H. Keck, Belleville, and Arthur Anderson, Newark, vice chairmen, and Lyle B. Moushon, Peoria, secretary-treasurer.

The officers were authorized by resolution to engage legal counsel to petition federal courts for relief from the penalty taxes.

Men Favor Simplicity In Clothing

Men who appreciate simplicity in clothes will have it all their way this Fall. That is the consensus of opinion among leading designers, stylists, and manufacturers who make it their business to know about trends long before they arrive. No explanation is given for this about-face. Some say it is a result of the war influence, some say that it is just the normal course of events. In any case, men's apparel is to be simpler, more functional, less fancy, stripped of many non-essential gadgets of other years.

Suit coats, for example, are longer and straighter. Patterns, while they certainly can't be called dull, are definitely on the quiet side, with soft plaids, pencil stripes, checks and herringbones in the ascendency. Many of the newer models are without pocket flaps, an appendage which most men have long considered useless.

In shirts, the big news is the decline and fall of stripes. Some are offered for the benefit of the die-hards, of course, but the selection is limited and the patterns uninspired. Main emphasis is on the solid colors, with the pale tones of blue and egg-shell receiving the most applause. Typical of the popular new shirtings is American Fuji cloth, a Crown Tested rayon fabric.

Topcoats

In topcoats, too, simplicity rules in patterns, weaves, textures, and cut. Square shoulders, set-in sleeves, and narrower skirts are examples of the way the trend is asserting itself.

Brightest spot in the Fall fashions is the array of new sportswear which bids fair to surpass all previous years in popularity. Here again, the practical, down-to-earth designs are the favorites. The new sweaters in heathery tones that are as comfortable to look at as they are to wear. Many are of rayon, cotton, and wool, ingeniously blended together to produce a fluffy nap and good wearing qualities. In sport shirts first place goes to the restrained plaids in soft, rayon-and-wool mixtures. Jackets and slacks are best in the tough, wind-resistant twills and gabardines.

Sport coats of every shape and description will be in evidence this season. Full length, knee-length, finger-tip, and hip-length will all be represented, with no one style outdistancing the others. These coats, in water-repellent poplin and twill, many with sheepskin collars and linings, were originally created for the university man, but are finding their way into the wardrobes of sports-conscious men of all ages.

PROMOTIONS IN NAVY

Washington, Oct. 1.—(AP)—These Illinoisans were included yesterday among 281 naval officers whose promotion from the rank of Lieutenant Commander to Commander was approved by President Roosevelt:

Jessie R. Wallace, Beardstown; George Randolph Cooper, Hillsboro; William W. Cone, Champaign; Thomas B. Williamson, Edwardsville; William D. Anderson, Streator; William D. Hoover, Taylorville, and Leland D. Whitgrove, DeKalb.

One-Time Official of Fraternal Insurance Society Is Indicted

Chicago, Oct. 1.—(AP)—An indictment charging Francis Reginald Carlin, 42, handsome British world traveler and World War aviator, with embezzling $106,716.58 from the St. George Fraternal Insurance Society, of which he formerly was supervisor, was returned Tuesday.

Vernon Thompson, assistant state's attorney, said Carlin was hired by the society as an insurance salesman in 1937 and after he became supervisor was empowered to trade society securities in an effort to make money for the organization.

About that time, however, Thompson said, Carlin began playing the horses with his own money, ran short and in January, 1939, began dipping into the society's funds. Last spring Carlin and his wife left their suburban home. He was apprehended Sept. 15 in Gallup, N. M., and returned here by Detective Arthur Ristig who said he staked his prisoner to a haircut because Carlin was so short of funds.

LEARN THE TRUTH ABOUT BOWEL WORMS

The signs are misleading. Nobody is sure to escape. Worms can make real trouble. Anybody, anywhere, can "catch" roundworms! So watch out for these signs in your child or yourself: uneasy stomach, nose-picking, loss of weight, itchy seat, nervousness. Get Jarne's Vermifuge if you even suspect roundworms. It expels stubborn worms, yet acts very gently. If there are no worms, it works just as a mild laxative. Jarne's is America's best known proprietary worm medicine; scientifically tested and used by millions for over a century. So, play safe! Insist on Jarne's Vermifuge.

All Women Are Assuming Fashion Responsibilities as Part of Defense

The common denominator of varied interests to divide the way the American woman spends her time, also serves to clearly indicate that her wardrobe must encompass a range of fashions which will see her appropriately dressed for the pursuit of each one of those interests.

Everything—from basic silhouette—to elegant trimming, marks this season's dresses as new. She who would shop both wisely and well will want to be a fashion expert in her own right, so this little style resume is aimed to make the reader an authority, at least on the matter of how her personal wardrobe should be planned.

Career woman or housewife by vocation, every woman will have avocations this year; some related to charity work, relief drives, patriotic endeavors. There'll be club meetings galore, committee sessions, and evening "socials" for which a diversity of fashions can be worn.

Costume suits combine simply but intricately detailed dresses with jackets, fitted, or more swaggering full length coats, usually untrimmed, sometimes fur-trimmed with one of the season's popular furs.

Femininity Leads

Dresses are for the most part feminine, with even the spectator style softened with unpressed pleats, middy contours, and capacious pockets, while color runs the full gamut from basic black, brown and winter navy, through a flattering range of blues, greens, beet reds, tans, golds, to pale natural tones.

There is a clearly defined trend toward the slimmer skirt silhouette. In fact, high fashion skirts for daytime dresses are being shown as narrow as 60 inches in width. This does not mean that skirts are as yet "straight and narrow"—for you will still find fluidity of line and a modified fullness somewhere. "Fullness above" is one of the season's smartest ways of featuring fullness somewhere in the silhouette. The peplum and the tunic, now proving to be two of this Fall's most important silhouette features for both daytime and evening dresses, are perfect examples of the "fullness above."

There is also a certain amount of front fullness, usually achieved with soft unpressed pleats released from stitching to the hipbone. With this silhouette, the back of the skirt is almost invariably narrow. There is also a little, but only a little, side fullness, while one or two dresses in most collections show every modified backfulness with a slim front line.

Longer waistlines are decidedly important, often with the accent given to the hipline. The long jersey jumper silhouette—the moulded torso—the elongated basque are all smart variations of the trend toward a lengthening waistline.

Shoulders are rounded, and have the slightly wide look of a man's jacket; however, they are never raised or puffed above the normal line.

Skirt lengths remain around 20 inches from the ground on the average, though the very young and the very extreme frequently

Community Players Launch Sale of Season Tickets

The Community Players, newly-organized dramatic group, are launching a whirlwind campaign to sell tickets for their first season, which is to open on Thursday evening, Oct. 23, with "The Male Animal."

Gene Goddard, who came to Dixon seven years ago, soon after his graduation from the University of Iowa school of commerce in 1933, heads the ticket committee, with Randall Warfel, Robert Pruitt, Neil Allen, Louis Leydig, Mrs. Charles Redebaugh, Mila Wolkne, Betty Allen, and Loraine Baker of Sterling as his assistants. He sings in the choir and has managed plays of various organizations at the First Presbyterian church.

Assisting with the sales campaign is the publicity committee, headed by Mrs. Leo Dixon, who is well known in Dixon dramatic circles. She was formerly co-director of the Junior Shakespeare club, directed the Junior Players, and has been active in camp and troop dramas for Girl Scouts. She received her training at Forest Park college in St. Louis, and had three years of private study with Mrs. Walter R. Clark of St. Joseph, Mo. Her most recent accomplishment in Dixon was direction of the comedy, "George in a Jam," last spring. Her co-workers include Mrs. C. E. Morgan, Mrs. Norris Polhill, Mrs. Robert Pruitt, Miss Mary Trombold, Miss Ruth Crombie, Charles Redebaugh and Leo Dixon.

A committee to plan the play programs has also been appointed, and includes Mrs. Robert Pruitt, Mrs. Robert Belcher, Marilyn Clayton, and Beulah McKay. After this group has compiled the program, artist in the organization will be asked to submit sketches for the committee's approval.

The following program was presented at 7:30 o'clock:

Toccata and Fugue in D Minor, (Bach).
Largo, "New World Symphony," (Dvorak).
Minuet in A, (Boccherini).
Intermezzo, (Provoost).
Flight of the Bumblebee, Rimsky-Korsakov.

Intermission
Group of hymns, arranged by Miss Boyd.
Violin solos, Esther Boyd.
Meditation, "Thais," (Massenet).
Adoration, (Borowski).

Banquet Guests Visit With Beauty Queen

Here, a trio of guests attending last evening's "bon voyage" banquet for Miss "Toni" Harding of Morrison, beauty queen of the Rock River valley, are shown visiting with the attractive young brunette in the lobby of the Hotel Dixon. They are, left to right: Mrs. Mabel S. Shaw, publisher of The Dixon Evening Telegraph; "Toni"; Mrs. Zoe Osborn Latham, director of the Loveland Community House; and Miss Frances Patrick, secretary of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce.

Junior Clubwomen and Guests Hear Story of Java

"It costs only about one dollar to be born in Java; to be buried costs nothing," Joseph Ellis—enthusiastic traveler, lecturer and adventurer—told an audience that almost filled the Loveland Community House auditorium last evening.

Mr. Ellis, who was born in Baghdad and was long a resident of Java and Singapore, came to Dixon to present the first program of the season for the Junior Women's club. The meeting he addressed was a Guest Night, and many visitors were invited to hear the strange tales that this absorbing and instructive speaker had to tell of life as it is lived in Java. And the voice that tells the story has a soft, rhythmic intonation that is characteristic of the Orient.

Life moves at a slow pace in that warm, humid country, the audience learned, and natives are entirely content with what nature abundantly offers. The average Javan, Mr. Ellis believes, would consider civilization in the United States expensive.

Queer animals, gaysarongs, skins, blow guns, and many other interesting objects formed the background for the lecture, which carried those in the audience to Java—Garden of the East. There are two distinctive classes in Java the coolie and nobility—Mr. Ellis stated. And because each recognizes the other for what it is, there are no rebellions, and the Sultans rule with supreme authority over their subjects, as well as their numerous wives.

Tiger hunts are a form of recreation in Java and are both dangerous and exciting. Pythons, wild boars and monkeys inhabit the thick underbrush of the dense tropics, making travel perilous, yet Java is known as the hunter's paradise.

A beautiful multi-colored bird of paradise is one of the most valued possessions of the speaker. Its elaborate plumage, well preserved in all of its proud splendor, is typical of the some 40 species of the bird of paradise to be found in Java.

Mr. Ellis answered quickly that to him America is first, when asked if he preferred Java to the United States. He feels that anyone who has lived in this country and returned to Java would eventually become dissatisfied with the easy, languid life and lose sense of freedom caused by emphysema between countries so over-populated. "Goodbye, and God bless you," in the native Javanese tongue were the speaker's closing words.

Miss Virginia Klein, president of the Junior clubwomen, introduced Mr. Ellis, who expects to leave soon for Madison, Wis., for a six weeks' lecture engagement with the University of Wisconsin extension division. He spends the winter seasons in Florida.

Robert Pruitt, principal of the North Central grade school, succeeded Mrs. Edna Pine, Loveland school principal, as president of the recently-organized Black Hawk chapter, Northern Illinois State Teachers College Alumni association, at a dinner meeting last evening at the Hotel Nachusa. Forty-three members and guests were present from Dixon, Polo, Mt. Morris, and DeKalb.

Other officers named last evening included: Vice president, Miss Cornelia Conibear, Dixon; secretary, Miss Margaret Graupner, Dixon; and treasurer, Mrs. Beattie Withers, Mt. Morris.

The program was opened with group singing, led by Miss Mercedes Moore of the Lincoln grade school faculty, with Mrs. Margaret Richards, of the same faculty, at the piano. Miss Eunice Geraldson of the North Central school entertained with readings, Joseph Ridolph sang two solos, with Mrs. Moore at the piano, and President Adams of the DeKalb campus, spoke.

Mr. Adams brought greetings to the new alumni chapter from its alma mater, and spoke of various changes that have been made on the faculty of the school. Paul Street, also of DeKalb, extended greetings from alumni, and announced the annual Homecoming celebration for Oct. 10-12. Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Street were also present.

Miss Jean Lindberg's committee used autumnal appointments on the dinner tables. Place cards were in the form of tiny Indians.

The next meeting of the chapter is to take place in November.

BETA SIGMA PHIS POSTPONE PICNIC

Because of the Lions club banquet complimenting Miss "Toni" Harding, Rock river valley beauty queen of Dixon's recent Louella Parsons' Day celebration, Beta Sigma Phis of Gamma Mu chapter postponed the terrace picnic they were to have held last evening at the river shore home of Mrs. Howard Edwards.

The sorority members served as hostesses for the beauty queen candidates during the beauty contest, and seven were present for last evening's "bon voyage" festivities for "Toni," who left on the City of Los Angeles for a two-week stay in Hollywood.

Next Monday evening, the chapter members expect to meet at Lowell park lodge for dinner.

Mrs. F. J. Rosbrook went to Chicago today.

Ousting of Civil Service Employees Proceeding Slowly

Only 53 Notices Have Been Filed With Ill. Commission to Date

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Green administration's move to oust several thousand state civil service employees accused of political activity has resulted in only a handful of dismissals thus far, civil service commission records showed today.

A month has elapsed since Governor Green made known that political activity charges had been prepared against about 4,000 civil service workers and that some 5,000 others were under investigation. Since that announcement, however, only 53 employee dismissal notices have been filed with the commission. Many of these still are awaiting trials.

Informed Republicans, explaining the apparently slow progress of the so-called purge, gave three reasons why it hasn't moved at a faster pace:

1. Department heads have accumulated affidavits of political activity against many employees, but have deliberately delayed filing the charges in the belief some of the accused employees would resign rather than face civil service trials.

2. Test cases now pending before the commission are being watched by GOP officials as a guide to the type and extent of evidence required to sustain dismissals under the civil service rule banning political acts.

3. Some Republican directors and division heads have hesitated to hurry the replacement of experienced employees, despite the continuing clamor from Republican job applicants throughout the state.

The civil service commission reported no complete figures available as to the number of civil service employees who have submitted resignations since the announcement Sept. 2 by Governor Green of the wholesale investigations. A recent official estimate, however, was that about 500 civil service workers had resigned since the start of the new administration last January.

Hearings have been granted to a score or more employees during the last month, but the new civil service commission has not yet ruled on what type of political activity will be considered grounds for dismissals.

One employee, in a case heard yesterday by a civil service trial board here, was accused of distributing Hershey-for-governor Democratic campaign buttons in the campaign last fall. Another was charged with wearing such buttons. A third was accused of driving voters to the polls in his automobile, and still another of canvassing for votes in his precinct.

All of the cases, in which the employees are fighting dismissal, were taken under advisement.

State Operates Free Ferry Across River

Kampsville, Ill., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The state public works and buildings department began operating the century-old ferry across the Illinois river here as a free service today.

The ferry was purchased from the Columbiana Ferry Co. under a 1939 legislative act authorizing state operation of such facilities connecting state highways.

The ferry connects state routes 100 and 108 in Greene and Calhoun counties.

State officials said they decided to operate the free ferry service because traffic did not justify construction of a bridge.

Fifteenth largest city in the United States, New Orleans, La., had a population of 492,282 in 1940, compared to 458,762 in 1930.

LITTLE WORLD SERIES IS ALL EVENED UP, TWO AND TWO

Columbus, O., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The World Series between Montreal's Royals, International loop kings, and the Columbus Red Birds, American Association winners, was right where it started today—all even.

The Birds blasted two Royal moundsmen for 10 hits last night to win by 5 to 4, giving each club two victories and two losses in the junior diamond classic.

With the series deadlocked at two-all, Manager Burt Shotton of the Birds and Clyde Sikeforth of the Royals planned to call on two previous winners for tonight's mound duties. Shotton said he would start his ace, Johnny Grodzki, victor in the second game, while Sikeforth nominated Southpaw Mox Macon, former Columbus hurler, who put the Royals out front in the first contest.

Death Charge Big Russian Monster Described to AP

By PAUL SJOBLUM

With Finnish Forces on the Petrozavodsk Front, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The dying charge of a 52-ton Russian tank which moved down ancient pines as thick as three men and left a trail of shattered and broken machinery was described today Finnish soldiers.

The Russian monster, with its 3½-inch cannon and five machine-guns spitting fire wildly in all directions, crashed through timber for 200 yards before it was halted by a mighty clump of trees.

On a tour of the eastern Karelian front, I saw the wrecked tank and hear it the grave of its crew of six, who lie buried in the swampy soil of the battlefield.

No Finn who faced the huge tank on its last charge ever will forget it.

Tank Shoots Off Road

Surrounded by a Finnish battalion, these soldiers related, the tank shot off the road into a forest directly into the midst of Finnish infantrymen.

Down crashed the big, old trees. The cannon in the tank tower hurled shells all around while its machine-guns spit deadly fire.

Finnish officers told me their men simply were paralyzed and could only stare in horror.

The Finnish offensive in East Karelia, launched September 4, has cost the Russians tremendous casualties, Finnish officers said.

(Finnish capture of Petrozavodsk, in Eastern Karelia, was announced officially today.)

(The city is about 180 miles air-line northeast of Leningrad and is on the Leningrad-Murmansk railroad.)

CALIFORNIA WOMAN IS ONE OF BEST RACE DRIVERS IN THE TROTTER PROFESSION

Fresno, Calif., Oct. 1.—(AP)—If it hadn't been for automobiles, Helen E. Davis still might be trotting spirited horses along country lanes. As it is, her driving's confined to racing strips and she's one of the best reinsmen on the Pacific Coast.

Helen's father owned fast horses but never raced them. When she became old enough, she trotted them on country lanes. Then came automobiles in fairly large numbers.

"I like to drive fast but automobiles drove me off the road, so I had to go to the tracks," she explained her turn to professional racing.

Owned a Good Trotter

She owned a good trotter, Palo Crest. That was in 1928. She had been training trotters and pacers since 1920 but never had driven a race.

She decided to take Palo Crest to the county fairs. The men objected—strenuously—but there wasn't any rule barring women, so Helen drove.

Palo Crest and Helen were a sensation. As she recalls that 1928 season, they won 19 straight heats—an American record—for seven successive races victories.

Miss Davis has been racing every season since, from spring until late fall on California tracks. She declined details but

ANDY TILTON IS RECORD-SMASHER; SCORES 244 GAME

Two Teams Tied For Second Place In Third Session

The Post Office got a package last night marked "This Side Up," "Handle With Care" and "Special Delivery" ... it was the three-game sweep which the postmen delivered at the Dixon Recreation bowling alleys. And the net receipts put the boys right on top of the City League standings.

And fireball roller of the crew was "Postman" Andy Tilton who rang twice when he smashed the two records for individual high game and series. Andy counted a brilliant 244 for high game to erase the name of Lyle Myers who had counted 235 last week. Andy came out on top with a 642 series which was just 42 pins better than Myers' mark of last week.

The Post Office also set a new high team game with 1064 in the third. The Three Deuces' high series mark of 3021 remained untouched.

In winning the triple victory Tilton, of course, led his mates while Flash Fordham rolled 529 for the defeated Reynolds Wire team.

Drop to Second Place
Myers and Nolan dropped into a two-way tie after losing two games to Myers Royal Blue. The brother vs. brother conflict saw the Hoyle and the Myers trying to outdo one another. Leading the cloisters was Hoyle with a 516 series while McClanahan counted 578 for the winners.

Meister Brau, the other team to share in the second place tie, won two games last night from Strub and Schultz. Leading the winners was Grow with a 494 series while Hanson counted 468 for the losers.

Blackhawk Food Stores won two games from the Three Deuces. Bollman counted 468 to lead the winners and Batson had 480 for the triple two.

High games last night included those of: M. Potter 225; McClanahan 209; Horton 225; Tilton 208-244.

Brooklyn's Panners Division Advances on Manhattan

Brooklyn Bridge has been the scene of many historic happenings, but all Brooklyn bridges and the subways, too, today tell the story of Yankee Stadium being sold out for a World Series for the first time. It is the advance of Brooklyn's Panners Division on Manhattan to Brooklyn bridge on the way home.

THEY'RE OFF!! WORLD SERIES OPENS TODAY

Conflict Between Yanks 'And Dodgers Is Fans' Delight

By GAYLE TALBOT

Yankee Stadium, New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Rain that had fallen almost steadily since early morning ceased abruptly shortly after 10 a. m. today, the sun popped out strongly, and it looked like the opening game of the World Series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees would be played right on schedule at 12:30 p. m. CST.

Groundkeepers swarmed out on the diamond and removed the heavy rain-proof covering that had protected the infield through the successive downpours. The ground beneath was dry as a bone.

The workmen's appearance was a signal for a concerted cheer from the packed bleachers, many of whose occupants had stood in line through the night and had rushed the gates when they opened this morning they were, of course, thoroughly wet, but their enthusiasm appeared undampened.

There have been play-offs between the Yankees and their next door neighbors, the Giants, but they didn't generate anything like the excitement surrounding this series. This is what the baseball fans of the nation's greatest city have been waiting for all these years.

From the moment the first ball is pitched at 12:30 p. m. (C. S. T.) until the final out is made today, there will be a condition bordering on suspended animation in the city's five boroughs and, to a lesser extent, in the far reaches of Long Island and other adjacent territory.

The Yankees, runaway winners in the American League race and home run hitters extraordinary, enter the struggle pronounced favorites to capture the first game and the series, though the fact has not dimmed in the slightest the almost sublime faith of the Dodgers' following.

"Team of Destiny"
Brooklyn fans, having watched their so-called "bums" fight their way to victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in a National League campaign that was a terror all the way, are not in a mood to worry about statistics at this late date. They believe with a conviction bordering on outright belligerence that theirs is a team of destiny.

Perhaps it is, but the hard facts remained that the Yankees were leading off today with their great veteran righthander, Charley Ruffing, one of the outstanding money pitchers the game has seen, and that the brilliant array of sluggers who mauled the American League were waiting impatiently to level their sights on Brooklyn hurling.

The Dodgers, taken by and large, look almost as good as the Yankees. As Manager Leo Durocher has not failed to point out, they had to be good to beat out the Cardinals. Their pitching, judging it strictly on won-and-lost records, is more impressive than that of the Yanks.

But the Yankees have that big punch—the sort that forces rival pitchers to bear down nervously every minute and is as likely to break up a ball game with two down in the ninth as at any other stage of a game.

Although Durocher had declined to make it official, Brooklyn's pitching choice today was expected to be Curt Davis, the gaunt right-hander who came to Brooklyn almost unnoticed in the deal whereby the Dodgers acquired Outfielder Joe Medwick. Davis has made a notable comeback this season and was particularly effective against the Yankees in training games last spring. He is a low-ball pitcher, depending largely on a sharp curve and an ability to keep the pill around the batters' knees.

Other Dodger Possibility
The other Dodger possibility was Whitlow Wyatt, one of the club's two 22-game winners. Wyatt was, in fact, the more logical choice, but it was suspected that Durocher intended to use strategy, taking a chance that Davis might have one of his "right" days and set the Yanks on their heels.

The assumption was that Charley Keller would start in left field for the Yankees, even though he still was limping slightly from the ankle he fractured several weeks ago. His presence in the lineup makes the McMarthens distance hitting superiority more pronounced than it otherwise would have been.

doubtful spot in the Yankee lineup.

Red Rolfe, the club's regular hot corner expert, has had a long siege of stomach trouble and it was possible that he would be supplanted by Frankie Crosetti or Gerald Priddy, with the former favored.

Brooklyn goes into the battle in fine physical shape.

The first two games, today and tomorrow, are scheduled at the stadium, with the teams moving over to Ebbett's Field in Brooklyn for the next three. If sixth and seventh contests are necessary to settle the issue, they will be played at the stadium. Also, in that case, there will be a day's rest between the sixth and seventh games to facilitate the ticket sales. Tickets are printed and sold in advance only for the first six bouts.

Yankee Mounder

Red Ruffing

Red Ruffing who has won 15 and lost six games this season, has been selected as the opening day pitcher for the New York Yankees in the World Series. Ruffing will probably oppose Curt Davis on the mound. In the season for the Brooklyn Dodgers, Davis has won 13 and lost seven.

Davis has made a notable comeback this season and was particularly effective against the Yankees in training games last spring. ## NEW OHIO COACH MAY WONDER WHY HE TOOK THE JOB

Buckeyes Are Off On A Ride To West To Meet Trojans

Chicago, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Consider a moment, the plight of Paul Brown, head football man at Ohio State, who might be excused for wondering why he left a cozy high school job at Massillon, O., to take over the Buckeyes this year.

Not that Brown has had tough sledding so far. His ball club won its opener from Missouri, 12 to 7, last Saturday and thus eased Paul over that tough first hurdle. But he has had his tribulations.

Previous to the Missouri game it was the case of the missing scouting reports which had Brown in a dither. Now he and his boys are off on a train ride to Los Angeles to face the fearsome Southern California Trojans, and Paul is having to school his lads in U. S. C. plays sort of "on the run."

Assistant Coaches Fritz Mackey and Paul Bixler, who scouted the Trojans in their 13 to 7 win over Oregon State Saturday, zipped home Sunday night with ample notes, but it wasn't fair to demand the Buckeyes work too hard on the traditional lazy Monday. Classes started Tuesday, so it wasn't polite to demand the grid-ders work more than two hours.

Illinois' G-Men

Illinois' two G-boys, Gould and Griffin, are the cause of much debate as the Illini prepare for their opener against Miami university. Don Griffin, 185-pound sophomore from Chicago, stacks up as Illinois' biggest left halfback in many years but Maurie Gould, the New Yorker, is a smart runner with a tricky change of direction, although he's of slighter build than Griffin.

Coach Lynn Waldorf at Northwestern is threatening to start at all-lettermen team against Kansas State Saturday. On second examination, his first string line proves to have only two of last year's regulars aboard. Tackle Alf Bauman and Guard George Sorch.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher remains uncertain about his starting guards for Wisconsin's game with Marquette, but Evan Vogds and George Makris appear to have the edge.

Irish Get New Plays

Notre Dame's squad is getting more new plays for use against Indiana Saturday. The Hoosiers, meanwhile, are brushing up their defenses for strategy the Irish already have revealed.

Iowa and Michigan, opponents in the first Big Ten game Saturday, each may throw a newcomer into the contest. Little Ben Trickey is seeing action as Hawk-ey quarterback in place of Al Coupee, and Don Robinson may get the call to the Wolverine backfield because of his outstanding passing and punting.

In the absence of scoring punch on the part of veteran players, sophomores may get a chance in Purdue's backfield for the pitt game. Bob Chester and Ken Smock being considered as left halfbacks. Any idea that the Minnesota Gophers may have had about idling through an open week-end—the next game is against Illinois Oct. 11—were dispelled by Coach Bernie Bierman who said there was plenty of work to be done, despite last week's victory over Washington.

The young of the eagle is known as an eaglet.

Calls U. S. Center of Solidarity of Western Nations

Argentine Lawyer Gives Address at Meeting of Bar Association

Indianapolis, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Members of the American Bar Association, who yesterday voted to table a resolution calling for repeal of the neutrality law, heard a South American declare today the United States will continue for years to come to be the center of American solidarity," particularly in matters of hemisphere defense.

Dr. Enrique Gil, vice-president of the Bar Association of Buenos Aires, Argentina, and vice-president of the Inter-American Bar Association, asserted American solidarity was born of the independence of American nations and not from any present danger. He added that there is tangible evidence of progress in fostering better relations among countries of North and South America.

"I have in mind," he said, "the phantom of the interventionist policy" of the United States in what are called x x x the Latin-American nations, and the bogey of 'annexation' with regard to Canada."

Bogies Blasted
"The 'interventionist policy' he said, was blasted at the 1936 Buenos Aires Inter-American Conference for Maintenance of Peace and through subsequent declarations by Secretary of State Hull.

The "bogey of 'annexation'" of Canada, Dr. Gil said, was disposed of by the Ogdensburg agreement of 1940 and by the creation of a joint United States-Canada defense board.

"In sum, an American system has been developed and today actually constitutes a living organism," he added, "well rounded out by Canada's whole-hearted adherence x x x."

"Notwithstanding the unquestionable importance of our respective countries, this American system has the United States as a center, and the United States will continue to be the center of the system for many years to come, particularly in matters of hemisphere defense."

The resolution proposing repeal of the neutrality law was tabled by the international and comparative law section after bitter debate between James W. Ryan, New York attorney, and George A. Finch, secretary of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Highest Taxes in U. S. History Go Into Effect; Only the Beginning

Washington, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The heaviest taxes in American history—double those of the World War era—took their first big handful of cash from the public's pocketbook today, and it was only the beginning.

The new excise levies which became effective at midnight gave consumers their initial—if incomplete—idea of what the recently passed defense revenue tax bill is going to mean in dollars and cents.

Although the treasury department is counting on the excise taxes for the pretty penny of $3,000,000 a day, they represent only a small part of the whole revenue program which is expected to raise about $13,000,000,000 a year.

Yet to come is the day of reckoning on the new income and excess profits taxes, already in effect and applying to 1941 returns.

These levies are of the delayed-action variety, with the pay-off to Uncle Sam deferred until next March 15.

The new order of taxes contrasted with the supposedly burdensome levies of the World War era, which yielded only $6,684,000,000 in their banner year.

In 1918, income tax exemptions were $2,000 for a family head and $1,000 for a single person. The new figures are $1,500 and $750. However, in 1918 dependents were $200 credits and now are $400 apiece.

Liquor that was nicked $2.20 a gallon when the country sang "Over There" now contributes $4. The beer tax has jumped from $3 to $6 a barrel.

Here's how some of the new taxes stack up with yesterday's law and 1918:

ILLINOISANS HIT

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Illinois citizens will be called upon to pay an estimated $307,950,800 in additional federal taxes during the next 12 months under the new federal revenue law which became effective today.

The estimate was made by Thomas E. Fiske, executive secretary of the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois, who said the additional taxes would raise to an all-time high of $1,407,950,000 the year's tax bill for Illinoisans.

This amount, Fiske said, was the equivalent of $184.51 for each citizen, or $2.02 a day for each family in the state.

The federation secretary calculated that residents of this state would pay approximately $64,356,800, or 7.6 per cent of the national total of new and additional excise taxes.

"Good time" seekers in Illinois will pay $37,900,000 a year in added amusement and nuisance taxes.

Under this heading, he listed $7,980,000 in amusement admission levies, $152,000 in cabaret check taxes, $212,000 for club dues, $76,000 on playing cards, $205,200 on electric signs, and $13,680,000 in the form of added federal liquor taxes.

Additional income taxes paid in the state, Fiske estimated, will

Author of "Out of the Night" Loses Fight to Prevent Deportation

San Francisco, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Author Jan Valtin, who sharply criticized nazi activities in his book, "Out of the Night", lost Tuesday by a two-two vote of the state advisory pardon board an appeal for a pardon to escape deportation to Germany.

The writer could, however, still win a pardon when the matter comes before Gov. Culbert L. Olson.

Valtin, 36, under his true name of Richard Krebs, was convicted in 1926 of assault with a deadly weapon in Los Angeles, and was sentenced to ten years. He was released in 1929 for deportation to his native Germany, and recently re-entered this country illegally.

Valtin contended he would be executed if he was returned to Germany.

SCHOOL MILLINERY EARNS HIGH DEGREE

The American school girl has come to realize her fashion importance, and she will want just the right hat for every campus and date costume this year. There are styles galore especially.

Felt hats are outstanding all-around favorites, but for date wear there are fabrics such as velvet and wool, and a fur trimmed hat can make the simplest untrimmed coat look elegant! Off the face brims, tilting berets.

HATS ARE "MUSTS"

Hats are definitely "in" this fall, for the school girl's wardrobe. She may have been a curl tossing rebel until now, because hats were too fussy for the casual clothes she loves, or because they didn't set firmly enough on her head, or because she just wanted to look carefree. But the picture has changed.

New this fall are stocking caps, in bright solid colors or stripes.

There Can Be No Curtailment of Dodge Quality
... No Substitute for Dodge Dependability

Being Shown and Demonstrated Now
With Extreme New Economy in Gas and Oil Consumption

TUNE IN MAJOR BOWES, C. B. S. THURSDAYS, 9 TO 10 P. M. E. S. T.

The New and the Finest Dodge

EVERY MAN OR WOMAN who buys one of these new Dodges will get for his money the very finest car that Dodge has ever turned out. He will get it, of course, from a smaller total production, because the Government of the United States has first call upon Dodge factories and men. But, we repeat, every civilian buyer of Dodge motorcars will receive for his investment all of the traditional Dodge quality at higher levels of endurance, performance and economy than Dodge has ever supplied them before.

Power-Flow Engine—For All-Fluid Drive

He will get, literally, the climax value of twenty-seven years of fine car engineering. He will get the phenomenal success of Dodge All-Fluid Drive. He will get the new Power-Flow Engine, designed and adapted as the more powerful complement to the fluid smoothness of Dodge All-Fluid Drive. He will get a motorcar of lifetime lasting qualities, in which riding and driving have become almost the same thing—except that the driver gets the added joy of command.

Is This Asking Too Much?
People by the hundreds who have driven the new Dodge say almost the same thing. They say they could not, and would not, go back to the old way of driving. It is not asking too much, we believe, that you investigate these revolutionary Dodge qualities.

You should experience the ebb and flow of Dodge power, at any speed, in any traffic, with or without shifting gears as you may wish. You should measure its new economy against the old, and realize that Dodge, all by itself, has turned the corner into a new day of motorcar performance, long life, and Dependability.

Dependability—Forever the Watchword
It is unquestionably true that fewer cars will be built this coming year, according to your own defense requirements. But, above all, it is true that there can never occur any curtailment of Dodge motorcar quality—and no substitute, ever, for Dodge Dependability.

A new Dodge car is a basic investment for the years.

KIRBY HIGBE AND MILLIONS OF FANS AGREE — "THERE'S NOTHING LIKE A CAMEL"

PITCHING versus POWER. That's the story of the classic to come. And in the blazing speed and skill of Brooklyn's Kirby Higbe is all the pitching prowess so traditional in the National League. Carolina-born, Kirby Higbe likes his cigarette "milder, but with plenty of honest-to-goodness flavor." Naturally, he smokes the cigarette of costlier tobaccos — Camels.

JOLTING JOE of the "BOMBERS"
He's more than a symbol of American League power at bat. Joe Di Maggio is power itself. Game after game, for 56 consecutive games, he came through with at least one hit. And day after day, he chooses Camel cigarettes—because, in his own words: "They're milder."

I PICK CAMELS EVERY TIME. THEY'VE GOT THE WINNING FLAVOR

SAYS KIRBY HIGBE: "When you've been in there throwing everything you've got, there's nothing hits the spot like a Camel. No matter how much I smoke, Camels never wear out their welcome. And I like knowing there's less nicotine in the smoke of Camels."

The smoke of slower-burning Camels contains 28% LESS NICOTINE

than the average of the 4 other largest-selling brands tested — less than any of them — according to independent scientific tests of the smoke itself!

YOU BET I SMOKE CAMELS. ALONG WITH ALL THAT SWELL FLAVOR, CAMELS ARE EXTRA MILD

SAYS JOE DI MAGGIO: "Camels have been my cigarette for years. There's less nicotine in the smoke and that extra mildness is important to a smoker like me. On top of that, Camels just always taste better. They're a cigarette that's really fun to smoke."
